Today's Quotation

While there is life there's hope.

1. Write 10 sentences to describe the picture.
Dear Olga,

I am writing to you from a summer holiday camp. I really like it here. Every day is different. We go to the forest and watch the birds. The weather keeps fine, so we swim in the lake and lie in the sun a lot. It seldom rains and we have to water the plants in the garden every evening, but I enjoy doing it.

I have some very good friends here - a boy and two girls. The boy plays the guitar and sings very well. In the evenings we sometimes make a fire, sit around it and sing together and sometimes we get up early in the morning and watch the sunrise. It seems to be the best summer in my whole life!

I hope you are keeping well. Give my love to your parents and your sister. See you at school very soon.

Your Kate

B. Write a postcard to a friend or a relative and describe your own summer. (Write in the past tense because the summer is over.)

Your friend has just come from the country where he spent his holidays. You want to know as much as possible about his holidays. Use the word combinations from the box and write questions that you can ask him.

EXAMPLE: How often did you make a fire?

to make a fire, to build sandcastles, to wear jeans and T-shirts, to stay much outdoors, to meet different people, to take little children to the zoo, to have a swim, to be hot and sunny, to rain a lot, to read much, to grow vegetables, to eat a lot of fruit, to ride bicycles
4. Look at the pictures and write what Mike and his friends used to do during the summer.

5. Complete the sentences using the verbs in brackets in past simple or past progressive.

EXAMPLE:

A: Wasn't the 9 o'clock film interesting?

B: (not watch; mum/watch the 9 o'clock news)

I didn't watch the film because mum was watching the 9 o'clock news.

1. A: Linda! Wake up! It's not polite to sleep when your elder brother is talking.

   B: (not sleep; I/think with my eyes closed)

2. A: I saw you in mum's new hat!

   B: (not wear; I/try it on)

3. A: Helen, what shall I do?

   B: Sorry, (I/not listen)
4. A: Did you enjoy the football match?
   B: (we/not play; it/rain)
5. A: How are you after your swimming race?
   B: (we/not swim; the weather/be cold)
6. A: I phoned at 5, but there was no answer.
   B: Naturally. (I/do shopping at the time)
7. A: Why did you tell your brother a lie?
   B: (I/not; I/joke)
8. A: Did you win the race?
   B: (we/not run; a thunderstorm/begin)
9. A: Why did you write your test so badly?
   B: (I/whisper the answer to John)
10. A: So, what did your mother say about your plan?
    B: (I/not tell her; she/be busy; she/talk on the phone)

You have heard a weather forecast for different places in Russia. Write what you have heard. Use the words from the box.

EXAMPLE: In Moscow the day will be cold with heavy showers.

1. There are two mixed up stories here. Put the pieces right and copy out the two stories giving each a title.

1. This theory [ˈθɪəri] answers all the questions. Scientists are still asking questions and try to explain why so many plants and animals became extinct. It's one of the oldest mysteries in the world, and it may never be solved.

2. In 1900 many zoos had passenger pigeons.¹ On 14 September, 1908 the last wild passenger pigeon was caught near Detroit.² Martha, the last living passenger pigeon in the world, died on 1 September, 1914. Her body is placed in a museum in Washington, D. C.

3. Many of them think that a change in climate caused it. But what could cause such a change in climate? Some scientists say that an asteroid [ˈæstəroid] fell on the earth 65 million years ago. A huge cloud of dust rose into the sky. There was no sunlight. Temperatures became very low, and without sunlight, plants died. The dinosaurs died from hunger and freezing.

² Detroit [dɪˈtrɔɪt] — г. Детройт, штат Мичиган, США
4. In the 18th and 19th centuries there were millions of beautiful passenger pigeons in the United States and Canada. A visitor from Holland wrote, in 1625, that there were so many pigeons that the sky was dark with them and no sun was seen. Today, not a single passenger pigeon is alive.

5. Dinosaurs lived on the earth for over 140 million years. Then, suddenly, 65 million years ago, all the dinosaurs died, and most of the other animals and plants died along with them. Over 75 per cent of life on earth became extinct. For more than 150 years scientists have tried to find out why.

6. The passenger pigeon was one of the largest and most beautiful members of the pigeon family. It was about forty-five cm long, had narrow wings and a long graceful\(^1\) neck. Its tail was twenty cm long and was silvery white. The head was dark blue and the neck was gold and green and purple.

B. Read the text. It has got five paragraphs. Find a key sentence (a sentence expressing the main idea of a paragraph) in each paragraph. Write the key sentences out.

Do under-fives need more exercise?

1. Lucy Jackson is the author of the book “Childsplay”. In her book Lucy writes that small children should have special exercises in exercise classes because at home they do not have enough exercise.

2. Small children do that because they can’t run around freely. That is not simply possible. The world around them is not a safe place. As a result many small children become not active and unfit.

3. Lucy writes that parents should begin exercise with very small babies. They should move their arms and legs gently to the music. As children grow they should follow a special exercise programme.

4. But many people think that children will learn to run and jump as they play naturally. They should eat healthy food, play outdoors. In western countries many parents take their children to exercise classes where they jump around with their mothers to disco music. They seem to enjoy themselves. But it is not clear if the classes influence their future development.
Most schoolchildren do some sport at school. Many of them take regular exercise in their free time. But their younger brothers and sisters spend most of the time in front of the television or sitting in a pushchair and/or high chair.

Write questions to the text above using the words: who, where, when, why, what kind of, what, how many.

Give at least three reasons why Lucy thinks small children should have regular exercise. Write them down.

A. Read the fairy tale "The Spirit in the Bottle" and write the numbers of the paragraphs in the right order.

1. ... 2. ... 3. ... 4. ... 5. ... 6. ...

A. The giant gave Herman a piece of old rag\(^1\) and said that it was a very unusual rag. One end of it could cure people from all diseases, and the other end could turn iron and steel into silver.

B. The next day Herman went to the forest with his father. Though he had never done such work before, the student worked well. About noon his father said they would eat their dinner. Herman took his bread and said he would go a little way into the forest.

C. Once upon a time there was a poor woodcutter who worked very hard from morning till night. He had a son, Herman by name. The old man had saved some money and sent his son to university. Herman was a very good student. He worked hard and learnt a lot of things.

\(^1\) a rag — _EL. лоскут
D. But the money that his father had given him was all finished after two years and Herman came back home. His father had no more money and Herman said he would stay and work with his father.

E. Then the young man opened the bottle. Immediately the little thing jumped out of the bottle and began to grow. In a moment it stood before the young man like a huge giant. “Thank you, young man,” he said. “Now it’s my turn to help you.”

F. The young man was so pleased with the bright sunshine that he walked and walked among the trees. Suddenly he heard a voice: “Let me out! Let me out!” Herman looked down and saw a green bottle under the tree. There was something in the bottle that looked rather like a small frog and that jumped up and down shouting: “Let me out!”

B. Write 5 sentences to finish the fairy tale.

В горах моё сердце, а сам я внизу.
Прощай, моя родина! Север, прощай,—
Отечество славы и доблести край.
По белому свету судьбою гоним,
Навеки останусь я сыном твоим!
Прощайте, вершины под кровлей снегов,
Прощайте, долины и скаты лугов,
Прощайте, поникшие в бездну леса,
Прощайте, потоков лесных голоса.
В горах моё сердце ... Доньше я там.
По следу оления лечу по скалам.
Гоню я оления, пугаю козу.
В горах моё сердце, а сам я внизу!

WOMEN’S RIGHTS

At the beginning of the 19th century women in America did not have equal rights with men. They did not have the right to speak in public, to vote. They were not allowed to study at most colleges. In most states married women could not own land or houses. Two women, Elizabeth Stanton and Lucretia Mott, decided to meet with other women to try to change laws and customs. In 1848 women from all over the country met to discuss women’s rights. After their meeting where all men and women were declared equal, women began to speak publicly about their rights: the right to own and sell property, to get education, to work at any job or in any profession, to vote; in fact to be equal with men.

Many years passed before women began to receive these rights. Many women understood they had to work together for the rights of all people, be they black or white, men or women, slaves or free.

Questions:

1. At the beginning of the 19th century women in America didn’t have equal rights with men, ...?
2. ... to speak in public or vote or study at most colleges?
3. Who decided ...?
4. When ... to discuss women’s rights?

THE GREAT IRON CHEST

Part III

When the Princess saw the young man, she (1. like) him very much. She (2. begin) (3. work) as hard as she (4. can). She (5. think) she never (6. see) anyone so handsome.[^4] She (7. know) she (8. make)

[^1]: a tutor ['tjuːtə] — наставник, учитель; to tutor — учить, наставлять
[^2]: a tooter — дударь
[^3]: toot [tuːt] — дудеть, трубить, играть на дудочке
[^4]: handsome ['hænsəm] — красивый (обычно о мужчинах) him free soon. And she (9. do). The Prince (10. take) her hand and (11. say) he (12. be) under the spell all those years. He (13. suffer) a lot. He (14. thank) the Princess as she (15. save) him. He (16. tell) her he (17. want) them (18. go) to his father’s kingdom and (19. expect) her (20. marry) him. The Princess (21. agree) because she already (22. fall) in love with the young man. But she (23. ask) him (24. let) her (25. go) first to her father’s palace and (26. say) goodbye to her old father. The Prince (27. agree) though he (28. look, not) pleased. He (29. want) the Princess (30. speak) no more than three words to her father and then (31. come) back to him immediately.

2 Write an end to the fairy tale “The Great Iron Chest”.

3 Now read the real end of this story and compare it with your own. Write five things that are different or the same in these stories.

EXAMPLE:

A. In my story the Prince waits for the Princess in the forest but in the real story the Wicked Witch takes him to a faraway land.

B. In both stories the Prince and Princess get married.

The Princess told the Prince she would do everything he had asked her but when she got home, without thinking, she spoke more than three words to her old father, and (though she was not there to see) no sooner had she spoken the fourth word, than the Chest and the Prince were gone. When the Princess came back to the place where they had been, she couldn’t find them. So now, the poor girl walked and walked in the forest looking for her Prince. At last she came to a little cottage. She looked through the window and saw a clean room with a large table set for dinner. There were no people inside only a whole company of frogs. The Princess knocked and the frogs let her in. She was kind to them and they told her that the Wicked Witch had taken the Prince to a faraway land. They said that the way there was long and dangerous. They didn’t want the Princess to go on her journey but the girl said she would go. So she did. She found the Prince over the glass mountain on the shore of a deep lake. He was sleeping. She told him she had set him free when he was in the iron Chest, she had climbed a glass mountain and had swum over a great deep lake before she found him. The Prince opened his eyes, looked at the Princess. He was so happy she had come! Both of them started on their journey back, that long dangerous journey. After nine days of walking they found they were in the forest where everything had begun. They saw the frogs' cottage but suddenly it changed. There were beautiful flowers and tall trees everywhere. In the place where the old little cottage had stood there was a huge palace. The Prince and Princess got married. Her old father came to live with them. So they had two kingdoms between them, and they ruled long and happily over them both.

A mouse did run;
The tale is done.

8 Give three-five good reasons why Australia can be called an "extraordinary place to explore" and write them down.

9 Imagine you are having a biology class tomorrow. You will be discussing wildlife in Australia. Choose an Australian animal, describe it in 10—12 sentences and draw its picture.

10 Listen to the poem, 15, and read it. Then learn the poem by heart.

WHY
(by Raymond Wilson)

Why should the world be usual?
It surely¹ isn't right!
I don't want to confuse² you all,
BUT
Why shouldn't day be night?
Why shouldn't snow be hot and black?
Why shouldn't pigs have wings?³

¹ surely ['ʃʊrli] — конечно, непременно
² to confuse [kən'fju:s] — смущать, приводить в замешательство
³ a wing [wɪŋ] — крыло
Why shouldn’t the front be at the back?
AND
Why shouldn’t dustmen be kings?
Why shouldn’t marmalade taste like meat?
Why shouldn’t grass be red?
Why must we always stand on our feet?
WHEN
We can stand on our head?
Why shouldn’t starfish sing like thrushes?
Why shouldn’t elephants fly?
Why shouldn’t pork-pies grow on bushes?
AND
Why shouldn’t the sea be dry?
I won’t let the world be usual?
And if you disagree
I really confuse you all,
' COS
Why shouldn’t you be me?

11 Practise saying this tongue-twister.

Tongue-twister Challenge

16. Betty Botter bought some butter,
But she said, “My butter’s bitter.
If I put it in my batter, it will make my batter bitter.
If I buy some better butter, it will make my batter better.”
So she bought some better butter, and it made her batter better.
